

FORGIVE

Intro: 2 measures

I always said that'd be it
That I wouldn't stick around, if it ever came to this Here I am, so confused
How am I supposed to leave, when I can't even move

In the time it would have took to say
"Honey I'm home how was your day?"
You dropped a bomb right where we live
And just expect me to forgive (give)

That's a mighty big word for such a small man
And I'm not sure I can
'cause I don't even know now who I am
It's too soon for me to say "forgive"

I should ask but I won't
Was it love or just her touch, 'cause I don't think I wanna know
So get you some things and get out (get out)
Don't call me for a day or two so I can sort this out

Well you might as well have ripped the life
Right out of me right there tonight
And through the falling tears you said
"Can you ever just forgive?" (give)

That's a mighty big word for such a small man
And I'm not sure I can
'cause I don't even know now who I am
It's too soon for me to say "forgive"

Interlude: 4 measures

You know what they say
Forgive and forget, relive and regret
Forgive (give)

That's a mighty big word for such a small man
And I'm not sure I can
'cause I don't even know now who I am
quiet It's too soon for me to say "forgive"

Oh it's stop too soon for me to say "forgive"
